A mock election of senator, congressmen and state constitutional officers will be held this Monday. Ballot boxes will be placed in both the main and science buildings with the polls open from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. This election is being sponsored by the Democratic-Republican Forum, who plan to analyze the results at their meeting Tuesday night. Pete Thorsteinson, forum president, urged full cooperation to make the results valid.

An ambulance was needed last Tuesday to take an injured construction worker to the hospital following a fall while unloading a truck near the new library building. The injured worker, Elsworth Bassett, 39, of 1207 Lake Ave. North, was discharged from St. Luke's hospital after emergency treatment. He is an employee of the Zimm Sheet Metal Co., contractors for the ventilating system of the new structure.

Swim permits expire in one year's time, and students who were examined last year must be re-examined before they will be permitted to swim, announced Miss Hilda Schumacker, Health Service nurse. Students wishing to get a physical exam should report to Health Service and two days later, can receive a swim permit at the dispensing window of the men's or women's locker rooms of the physical education building.

One of the U. S. Navy's newest helicopters will be exhibited at UMD next Monday from 1-3 p. m. at the parking lot behind the physical education building. The copter is being flown here to interest young men in the Naval Aviation Cadet program. A Naval Aviation Cadet from Pensacola, Florida, will accompany pilot Lt. D. O. Modeen, USN, on this trip.

MOCK ELECTION MONDAY

Few examination reports for men have been returned. Anyone carrying a pink physical classification slip from Health Service should return it to Miss Richards of the Physical Education department, for clearance of swimming activities. No additional exam is then required.

Jerry Nelson, a junior, limbers up for the 1954 Homecoming Variety show with a few musical antics. Jerry, a business major, has found himself in many comic roles in his career at UMD, appearing in last year's Homecoming show, and the Beta Phi Kappa minstrel show. One of his biggest achievements was winning first prize for his imitation of orchestra leader Billy May in the Sno-Week show during his freshman year.

↓ ↓ Parade ↓ ↓

The parade begins at 1 p. m. tomorrow and will proceed from east to west on Superior street through town and past the judging stand. Six marching bands will take part in the colorful parade besides the many floats. Announcement of the three winners and the awarding of trophies will be made during half-time ceremonies at the game.

Varsity Show

The climax of the Homecoming Queen campaign will be reached tonight, when UMD's Homecoming queen of 1954 will be crowned at the Homecoming variety show at 7:30 in Main auditorium.

Called the "Drawing Board" the variety show will be based on a false television format, M. C'd by Jerry Nelson. Highlighting the collection of musical, dramatic, and variety acts are skits to be presented by each of the three social fraternities: Beta Phi Kappa, Gamma Theta Phi, and Sigma Tau Kappa.

Details about individual acts have been kept secret by co-chairmen Don Sundquist and Dennis LaRogue, but "This year's show will be a unique experience for anyone in attendance" promised Sundquist. "We hope it will be a fitting program in which to crown our new Homecoming Queen," he added.

First, second and third prizes of $35, $15, and $10 will be awarded to the evening's best acts. Three faculty members will be judges of the audience applause registered on an audience reaction meter. In last year's variety show, Don Hogquist, Dick Engstrom, and Gamma Theta fraternity were awarded the three prizes.

1953 Homecoming Queen, event to crown her successor to Mary Peterson will appear at the throne, from among Anna Marie Method, Anita Lee, Antoinette Spallacci, and Gladysce Rappanna, the four candidates competing for the honor.

Dance to Follow Grid Contest

Reck Dem Redmen is a theme that is going to be followed through in tomorrow's Homecoming dance titled the "Redmen Route."

Pete Thorsteinson is in charge of the annual affair, with Ralph Miler on decorations, Bev Rowe, Joyce Lahti, Greta Linder, Dennis Ojakangas, Jim Nygaard and Dick Hjerpe make up the rest of the committee.

Mickey Levine, his orchestra and vocalist, are featured at the 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. dance in the women's gym of the physical education building. The dance is open to all students, faculty members alumni, and students from St. Mary's.

Admission will be by activity card, Sigma Psi Gamma sorority is in charge of checking facilities.

Bonfire

Do you like to play with matches? All firebugs, as well as all other students and faculty members, are invited by the Freshman class to attend the Homecoming pep rally and bonfire.

The blaze will be held tonight at the new campus site. Denny Shryack, Freshman class president, will start the blaze promptly at 10:00 p. m. when a Redman from St. Mary's will be burned in effigy.

A snake dance around the bonfire will be held in connection with the other activities. Several committees headed by Nick Pappas, Fred MacKenzie, Don Wheat, Tom Murphy, and Joanne Herring were appointed by Shryack at the freshman cabinet meeting held last Tuesday.

Band to Strut Stuff at Half

With split-second timing tomorrow night's half-time Homecoming activities will be held at the Public Schools' stadium. Half-time chairman and master of ceremonies, Tom Johnson, will present the speakers; Dr. Raymond Darland, provost; Grant Merritt, student commission president; and Harry Hagenbrock, Homecoming chairman. They are each to make a few suitable remarks.

Following these short greetings, the royal court will make its entrance. Mary Peterson, last year's queen, will be presented and give a greeting. This year's princesses will be introduced by the new royalty.

While the Homecoming floats parade around the field, the Queen will present the awards to the three winning floats. The court will leave the field to the band's accompaniment.

Parking Ban

A parking ban is to go into effect on the lower side of Fourth street from Woodland avenue to 27th avenue east on Nov. 1. This ban is in accordance with an ordinance of the Duluth City council according to Earl Hobe, UMD business manager.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"On th' other hand—This 'F' just might reflect a pretty poor job of teaching."

Campus Yarns by Will Sweney

The burning issue to watch for, though it will not effect a good number of students (myself included,) affects a sizeable enough portion of the student body to warrant an explanation: the old bug-bear, student parking. There has been a new ordinance passed, effective November first, that will ban parking on the portion of Fourth Street between Woodland and Twenty-seventh. Where will students who have found the current parking situation difficult at its best, find a parking place within dozens of blocks when the new restrictions come into effect?

Other campuses have run into this problem and have found various solutions. Some have banned cars altogether, others have provided sufficient space for the student drivers. Which can UMD accept?

This campus is a streetcar campus (I use the term streetcar loosely, as few students can afford to use streetcars with their new price) and over half of the students dwell within the city limits. Many of them use cars to get to and from school. Also many out-of-town students commute (not only to their homes on weekends, but to and from school, for there is no dormitory and many of them are forced to stay a good distance from school.) Obviously it would be ridiculous to ban cars on this campus, at least until it has grown more. There is only one other solution, as I see it—to provide, somehow, for the numerous cars. The parking committee is working on it, tearing out hair by handfuls, in fact. We can sympathize with their tremendous problem, but we can also hope for better things?

Ah, how nice to be a certain well-read columnist. To sit at a desk and have people write your column for you, or, if not enough information arrives, to open up the pages of the UMD STATESMAN and extract enough filler material to finish off the column. For example: did you know that the UMD cafeteria sells 750 cups of coffee a day? I read it once in the STATESMAN and once again in a popular column. It must be nice!

Miscellaneous: I have deliberately avoided hacking on the Homecoming theme, for that has used up plenty of space in other places in this issue. I would like to urge students to attend the Varsity Show, though, for it sounds promising. Also the dance, the bonfire, and I need not even mention it, the game Saturday night. Oops, forgot the parade—UMD always has a superior parade (it goes down Superior Street, so what else could it be) . . . beanies look fine. One almost wishes one were a freshman instead of a five-year senior so he could wear one . . . suggestion has been made that the typewriter be removed from the library annex—students who have tried to find a haven from the storm of noise in the main library, give up completely when their last refuge is invaded by clackery typists. Any suggestions?

Music lovers (Ron Lief excluded) will be happy to know that Al Capp is currently satirizing a well-known musical figure of the TV world in his comic strip "L'il Abner." . . . Louis MacNeice and his wife were a popular success, and it is to be hoped that there will be more convos of that quality . . . all people interested in literary pursuits are urged to contact Dr. Rosenthal, who is the faculty advisor of the UMD HUMANIST.

Veteran Showman Compose 'Streetcar' Cast; Hayes Promises Desirable Drama

By VIRGINIA LAIBL

According to Dr. Hayes, "A Streetcar Named Desire" has "potentially the strongest cast ever to be assembled at UMD." The entire cast is indefatigable, with each member exerting his utmost to portray the difficult character roles to perfection.

Dave Wood, a seasoned performer of the stage, plays Stanley. His versatility as an actor is remarkable, and his insight into character parts keen. Dave has had a truly illustrious career in the amateur theatre, having leads in such plays as "Naughty Marietta," "The Male Animal," "The Skin of Our Teeth," "Man and Superman," "Death of a Salesman," "Life of the Insects" and "The Silver Cord."

He is a senior this year and will graduate with a B. S. degree in English. After serving two years with the Air Force, he will return for graduate work at Columbia University. His ultimate goal is to teach English and write short stories.

Lee Bolman is cast as Blanche. This is probably the most difficult role in the play due to the complexity of emotions that must be expressed. Her aptness to this challenging part has surprised even those who had utmost confidence in her ability.

Lee has had quite a bit of experience in show business. She appeared in "Venus Observed" at Walker Art Center, Minneapolis "Ring Round the Moon" at the U of M, and served as director in "Tonight at 8:30," "The Silver Cord," "Goodnight Caroline," and "Armenic and Old Lace." For three years immediately following the war she worked in Japan as director of camp shows and as general recreational supervisor.

Marilyn (Mez) Moog portrays Stella. The intensity of this character necessitates the amazing of Mez's past theatrical experiences. In high school state one-act play contests she contributed greatly in Eveleth, coping first prizes in all three years of her attendance there. At UMD she participated in "Murder in the Cathedral" and "Lilliom." Last summer she helped organize and acted in a summer theatre.

Mez will graduate this year with her B. S. in Speech. She intends to work for her masters degree at Iowa university and teach college.

Don Sundquist, well-known name about Duluth, portrays Mitch. Don has been connected with the theatre for 11 years and vows from a voice of much experience that there's definitely "no business like show business." He has appeared in "Down in the Valley," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Androcles and the Lion," "Winter Set," "Twelfth Night," "Death of a Salesman," "Life of the Insects," "Murder in the Cathedral," and in three operettas: "Sweetheart," "Gondoliers," and "Naughty Marietta." Besides participating in school plays, he has worked in summer stock and has directed and appeared in night club acts.

Don intends to work for his masters in theatre at the U of M then further study for his Ph. D in History at the Cornell theatre. His aim is to be a musical comedy director-producer.

The part of Steve is played by Dennis LaRoque, who is also a veteran of the theatre. He began his acting career in high school and carried it on to even greater heights at college. Denny, a senior has majored in speech correction and hopes to teach.

Doris Wessels is cast as Eunice. The fact that she is a freshman is indicative of her talent. She hopes to teach both English and Drama after graduation.

Pablo is portrayed by Doug Rapp. He has had much experience in the dramatic field, though but a sophomore. Doug is a speech major and wants to enter the field of TV production.

Shirley Pedraza plays the matron. She is a transfer student this year from Washington State, where she was active in drama. She plans to teach Spanish after graduation this year.

Bill Coombs portrays the doctor. He also was quite active in school dramatic productions. During the war he worked overseas for army shows. Bill attended the University of Alberta where he received his degree in Education.

Alyce Wellberg plays the street vendor. Alyce, who has also appeared in several UMD productions, is a speech major and hopes someday to teach.

Sno-Week Head Sought

Student Commission President Grant Merrit put in a plea this week for applicants for the position of Sno-Week chairman.

"Any upperclassman desiring to take on the responsibility, leadership and prominence which this position holds, "urged Merrit, "should submit his application to Edward Alspach, Student Commissioner in charge of Social Activities, or Robert Falk, Co-ordinator of Student Activities, Room 115, Main."

Don Mlodzik, 1954 Sno-Week chairman, inaugurated two new features into last year's program, a ski-trip to Lutsen and a "Dawn Yawn," a combination breakfast and dance held in the cafeteria upon return of a 4 a. m. bus of skiers from Lutsen.

An interesting feature of the Sno-Week activities is the beard-growing contest, a period when barbers are driven to poverty, coeds stay far away and campus sharpies begin to resemble Al Capp characters.

As in the past, a Sno-Queen will be chosen to replace the '54 queen, Sybil Wainstock.

On Spins and Needles

By Ron Lief

SOMETHING OLD . . .

One of Duke Ellington's greatest hits, Mood Indigo, is once more making the rounds on radio and juke boxes. The Norman Petty Trio cutting on "X" label is probably getting the most plays. Also in the running are versions by the Mills Brothers, Billy Eckstine, the Gould orchestra and Ellington, himself.

SOMETHING NEW . . .

One of the most anxiously awaited movies of recent years, "A Star Is Born", is due in Duluth on the fourth of November.

Spirit is a grand part of college life. There is nothing finer than the old class routing for the old team at the old football game. Yes sir, the old crowd and the old cheerleaders and the old team all fighting for the old school. But it has never ceased to be a cause of concern to your reporter why, when the going gets tough in the last half and they are really needed that the old band has left the old field.

Last week Columbia released an album from the soundtrack of the picture starring Judy Garland. Among the new songs written for the film by Harold Arlen, are the very emotional "Man That Got Away" (also by Sinatra on Capitol) and the bouncy "It's A New World." Something really unusual (at long last) is "Born In A Trunk" a musical sketch of a singer's rise to fame, featuring a medley of oldies like "You Took Advantage of Me", "Melancholy Baby" and "I'll Get By." Part of this number was shown on the Ed Sullivan TV show a few weeks ago.

SOMETHING BORROWED . . .

A local record program was introduced the other night: "The Ray Paulsen Show . . . On Spins and Needles." Who's borrowing from Whom?

SOMETHING COOL . . .

June Cristy's latest offering from Capitol is just what the title says "Something Cool". Backed by the orchestra of former Kenton-man, Pete Rugolo, she once more displays the voice and style that have made her one of the leading jazz and blues vocalists in the country. With the title song setting the slow, easy pace, Christy moves effortlessly through "I Should Care", "It Could Happen To You" and four others in the same vein.

MORE FROM THE MOVIES

More motion picture themes coming our way . . . "On the Waterfront," "The Barefoot Contessa," "Rear Window," and "Dial M for Murder."

(Any comment or suggestions on this or future columns will be appreciated and can be left in P. O. 754).

10,000 Calenders Sent Out

Sending out some of the 10,000 Special Events Calenders for the fall quarter is the job of Bill Loy and Lowell Ekberg, shown working in the University News Service office. Calenders are sent to teachers, alumni, parents of UMD students, and other interested persons.

Are you in the know about UMD? Well, if not, you stand alone. The news service is sending out 10,000 Special Events calendars with all the news about the fall quarter activities to teachers, alumni, parents of UMD students and many other persons who have indicated an interest in UMD activities.

Student help is used in getting the information from the different divisions and compiling it into lists of all scheduled activities open to the public. With the increased circulation, this year should see a greater interest in UMD from the area.

If you're not in the know, find someone with a calendar. It tells all!

Humanist Editors Named; 4 Posts Still Available

The HUMANIST, UMD's literary quarterly, will be published under a revised editorial set-up this year, announced Dr. William Rosenthal, head of the English department, and HUMANIST advisor.

The editorial staff of the revamped publication will be composed of a six member board of student directors. Two of these positions have been filled by Becky Thomason, literary editor, and Richard Wold, art editor. The posts of special features editor, music editor, business manager, and drama editor are still open.

In order to stimulate interests of students in the various departments of the humanities division and to encourage students to direct their work towards publication in the HUMANIST, an advisory committee composed of faculty members of the division has recently been established. The committee is composed of: R. Dale Miller, humanities division chairman, Robert Wood of the art department; James Smith, music department; Harold Hayes, dramatics; Albert Tezla, Leonard Wolf and Rosenthal, all of the English department.

"Interested applicants for the available positions should apply in writing to the advisory committee and forward their applications to the humanities division," urged Rosenthal. He added that two issues of the HUMANIST will be published again this year with work on the first to begin immediately. Previous issues of the HUMANIST are available in his office, Main 102.

New Group Formed

Newest of the campus organizations is the United Youth fellowship. This religious club is the result of the recent merger of the Westminster Fellowship and the Pilgrim Youth Fellowship groups.

The newly-elected officers have an active program already underway. Led by director Dan Mundt, the group has named Jim Hanson as president. Other officers are: Jerry Hankins, vice-president; and Elaine Seashore, secretary-treasurer. Dick Weld, Frances Myers, Barbara Haenke, Ann Enquist and Ron Flack have been named as heads of the various committees.

Regular Thursday evening supper meetings begin at 6:30 and are followed by a period of worship and recreation.

UMD Seeks 5th Straight in Homecoming Tilt

Aunan Propells Mates Past Pipers 3-0

Fullback Wally Aunan lifted a towering end-over-end placement perfectly between the up-rights for three points and a 3-0 UMD victory against Hamline last Saturday night in a fumble-filled affair at Public Schools Stadium.

Aunan's field goal, booted from the ten-yard line at a difficult angle, enabled the Bulldogs to go undefeated in four outings thus far this season. It climaxed a duel of the two forward walls which produced only one serious scoring threat in the game, also by UMD.

For three quarters and approximately eleven and one half minutes of the fourth the two teams fumbled up and down the gridiron with the Bulldogs displaying a new twist in the way of offense featuring double and triple lateral combinations.

In view of the fact that UMD had not used this lateral pattern before and the presence of the numbing night air undoubtedly combined to hamper ball-handling.

Both elevens offered token offensive threats in the opening half, UMD fumbling away a chance on the 17 and Hamline gaining the 21 due to a pass interception.

The moment the Bulldogs laid their hands on the pigskin in the second half they drove down to the Hamline 1-yard line, the march starting after Hamline had lost the ball on downs. Helped by Piper interference on a Warner to Erholtz pass play that carried 31 yards UMD gained a first down and goal to go on the Hamline 6. Three thrusts into the line failed to gain the cherished cross-stripes after Aunan had plugged for five yards and Hamline took over possession at that point.

Then, late in the final quarter, UMD center John Bymark committed the act that started the Bulldogs on the victory trail. With Hamline Quarterback Jerry Omholtz back to punt the Grand Rapids' sophomore barged through the line and blocked the kick.

With a first down situation at hand Halfback Jim Peterson threw a strike to Captain Dave Erholtz on the ten-yard line, the move covering 24 yards.

A backfield-in-motion infraction and two more unsuccessful aerials stalled the Bulldog threat on fourth down at the ten. At that point time-out was called and Lefty Warner jogged on the field with the kicking tee. Then, it was but a matter of Aunan coming through with his three-pointer and the Bulldogs holding off a desperate, late-minute Piper drive that surged inside the UMD thirty-yard stripe before running out of gas.

Capt. Dave Erholtz awaits Jim Peterson's aerial on Hamline 10 yd. line. That set up Wally Aunan's field goal.

Bulldog Tales

by Ralph Romano

Look for Joe Hussey, UMD halfback to do more quarterbacking in the future. Lefty Warner who now holds the position, has been having his troubles and will return to a halfback slot.

A word of praise for Warner who stepped into an unfamiliar position and did a fine job until injuries began to hamper his play.

Concordia is organizing a hockey squad for the first time this season.

Lavern Hammer may not play hockey because of a heavy class schedule.

Jim Patton from Fort William Ont., a very fine hockey player and as nice a fellow as you could meet, may play for our Bulldogs. Jim, recovering from a painful illness is not eligible for conference play being a transfer student from a college in Pennsylvania, but he can play non-conference tilts and if health permits he will.

Another hockey prospect is Bill Samuelson a local boy with fine possibilities. Bill played in local Senior League circuits with some UMD stars.

A word of welcome to Norm Olson, a fine gentleman and great basketball coach from this corner and all the sports fans of UMD. Good luck, Norm and may you have every success and happiness here at UMD.

Word is that 6' 3" Bob Seikkula may step into the vacant Basketball center spot.

It seems doubtful that any MIAC club will come up with more strength at the guard position than our Bulldogs. Tom Richardson, flanked by Mel Koivisto and backed up by John Ferkul can stack up against any.

STATESMAN SALUTE:

Wally Aunan for his field goal and rushing in the Hamline game. Wally collected 51 yds. rushing to take over the rushing leadership. He also played a fine defensive game.

Observers from Hamline marveled at the strength of UMD's line, especially in rushing the passer. The players singled out for defensive play were Dick Forbert, Jim Morrissey, and John Bymark.

C-C Squad Opens Competition Today

By DON ROMANO

On Friday, Oct. 22, UMD's youngest sport, cross country will open competition.

The Bulldogs will take on St. Thomas in a dual meet over a 2.1 mile course at Enger Park.

Cross country although one of the oldest sports in existence, came into being at UMD only one month ago. The team is in the process of building and all interested are invited to try out for the squad.

Prospects will be given a chance to run in the Friday meet, but only five men picked before the event will be allowed to qualify.

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

By BARB LAIBL

Homecoming Week brings forth a STRONG W.A.A. participation schedule. Firstly, W.A.A. is backing Gladysce Rappana, a well-deserving junior, for Homecoming Queen; and secondly, W.A.A. is in charge of the Alumni Coffee Hour after Saturday's parade in the Physical Education Building. General Chairman is Dorothy Lofgren; food chairman, Nancy Kern; clean-up, Sue Schelstreet; registration, Mary Conley; and invitations, Betty Lawson.

Plans are definite regarding the volleyball tournament. . . . It will take over the month of November. If you haven't signed up yet, get your name in P. O. 506 or 119 . . . or just add your name to the list on the W.A.A. bulletin board in the Phy. Ed. building. Teams will be decided and scheduled for play on Tuesdays or Thursdays between 4 and 5:30.

Looks like bowling will be an enthusiastic event. It's "down the alley" at Pioneer on Mondays from 3:30 to 7 p. m.

UMD's Bulldogs fast becoming a title threat, seek their fourth straight conference win Saturday when they host the winless Redmen from Winona.

The Bulldogs currently tied for 1st place in the MIAC, will be ready favorites to continue their winning ways against an inexperienced St. Marys' eleven.

The game will climax the Homecoming celebration and the Bulldogs hope to Reck Dem Redmen. Last seasons slogan shouted to Tramp the Tommies but UMD lost 16-14. In 1952 they said Disgust Gustavus and the Bulldogs were run into the ground 55-0.

Cage Squad Prepares For 1955 Season

"It will take at least ten practice sessions before I can fully acquaint myself with all prospects," was the comment made by Head Coach Norm Olson after the team finished its first practice.

Norm was greeted by thirty one prospects at the start of training last Monday. The team will begin fundamental practices in which he must cut the squad to twelve men.

There are six lettermen out. They are seniors Tom Richardson, Bob Seikkula, Mel Koivisto, John Ferkul, Bob MacDonald sophomore Tom Stark.

Practice will be held daily in

This week's game will feature a terrific UMD line against an erratic St. Mary's running attack and a passing game which has become the forte of the Redmen's offense.

The Marian offense is led by quarterback John Healy who does the pitching and halfback George Rickord, the leading pass receiver and ground gainer. It is supplemented by speedster Jerry Cavanaugh and the only returning letterman, captain and fullback Ben Palmentere.

Although minor injuries continue to plague Warner, Bymark and Forbert, all are expected to see action in the St. Mary's tilt.

The Bulldogs will parade their renowned line; Erholtz and Forbert ends; Arota and Lundgren tackles, Morrissey and Gimpleguards and John Bymark at center.

The backfield will be manned by Aunan at fullback with Peterson, Hussey and Warner alternating at the quarter and halfback spots.

St. Mary's probable starting lineup will be: Lang and Naughton ends; Tobin and Judge, tackles; Inman and T. Kavanaugh, guards; with Bob Metke at center. Backfield starters will be Healy at quarter, J. Cavanaugh and Rickford at the halves and Ben Palmentere at full.
